DETAILED ACTION

Terminal Disclaimer

1. The terminal disclaimer filed on 06.20.05 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of any patent granted on Application Number 10/248,153 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-6, 8-14 and 16-20 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
4. As per claim 1 and dependent claims 2-6 and 8, the examiner found no reference in the prior art that disclosed or made obvious a flat panel X-ray tube assembly comprising a) a plurality of target wells formed as at least one line of target wells in a substrate upper surface, each of the plurality of target wells comprising a first angled side surface positioned in an acute angle relative to the substrate upper surface and b) a plurality of first target elements applied to each one of the first angled side surfaces, the first target elements generating X-rays in a direction perpendicular to a plurality of emitter elements in response to electrons received from one of the plurality of emitter elements as recited in independent claim 1.
5. As per claim 9 and dependent claims 10-14 and 16, the examiner found no reference in the prior art that disclosed or made obvious a flat panel X-ray tube assembly comprising a) a substrate including a plurality of first side angled surfaces, each of the first angled side surfaces in communication with one of a plurality of electron beams, each of the first angled side surfaces angled relative to the plurality of electron beams such that one of the plurality of electron beams approaches one of the first angled side surfaces at an acute angle and b) a plurality of first target elements applied to each of the plurality of first angled side surfaces, wherein the plurality of first target elements comprise at least one line of target elements, each of the plurality of target elements positioned parallel with one of a plurality of first angled surfaces, each of the plurality of first target elements generating X-rays in a direction parallel to one of the plurality of electron beams as recited in independent claim 9.

6. As per claim 17 and dependent claims 18-20, the examiner found no reference in the prior art that disclosed or made obvious a method of generating a plurality of X-ray beams having a plurality of focal spots comprising the steps of a) impacting a plurality of electron beams into one of a plurality of first target elements, each of the first target elements mounted on a first angled side surface of a substrate, b) striking the first target element with the electron beam at an acute angle and c) releasing X-rays from each of the first target elements in a direction parallel to one of a plurality of electron beams, as recited in independent claim 17.

7. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

9. U.S. Patents 4,837,793; 4,860,328 and 4,872,189 to Frankel et al.

10. U.S. Patent 5,383,232 to Gabbay et al.

Art Unit: 2882

11. U.S. Patent 5,629,970 to Woodruff et al.

12. The aforementioned references disclose an anode substrate having an upper surface comprising a plurality of target wells formed as a line of target wells in the substrate upper surface, each plurality of target wells comprising a first angled side surface positioned in an acute angle relative to the substrate upper surface.
